About The Organizer:

The Young Republic is a Swedish organization working with young Syrian refugees in Europe in the field of democracy and human rights. It aims to foster their democratic participation, civic engagement and social inclusion in their host communities.

Our goals:

- Promote the culture of democracy, human rights, gender equality and freedom of speech among Syrian youth in the diaspora and build their civic capacities.
- Foster youth participation, civic engagement and active citizenship of Syrian youth in their host communities and support their social inclusion.
- Enhance cultural exchange and cooperation between Syrian diaspora youth and their peers from the host communities.
- Prepare and organize young Syrians of the diaspora to play the role of active leaders in the conflict transformation, peace building and setting the basis of the new democratic republic in Syria.
- Build a strong base for youth integration and engagement that counter extremism, radicalization and hate.
